Dr. Moremen Sells Half Interest in Irvington Pharmacy-- Modern Woodmen Initiate 12 New Members.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Khmer left yesterday for Big Spring, for a visit to Mrs. Julia Clarkson. Mr. Kemper has gone on a hunting trip for a few days.

Mrs. Charlie Beard and children were in the city last week the guests of Mrs. Nora Board.

Miss Mabel McGlothlin will leave today for Elizabethtown, where she will spend a week with Miss Hilary Bryan.

Mrs. J. M. Herndon and little son returned Monday from Brandenburg after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Will Ascraft.

Miss Lula Hook, of Hardinsburg, is visiting Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hook this week.

Edd Monahan, of Glendean, spent Tuesday with C. L. Chamberlain.

Rev. and Mrs. L. K. May have returned home from Webster.

Miss Iva Mudd, of Louisville, and sister, Miss Bonnah Mudd, of Bowling Green, were visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mudd, at Oakland, last week.

Hon. John Allen, of Nashville, Tenn., the representative of the Burley Tobacco Society, spent a few days of last week the guest of Mr. D. C. Heron.

Miss Evelyn Herndon expects to leave this week for Louisville to be a member of a house party given by Mr. and Mrs. Virginia Bates.

If you want the best flour buy the Lewisport BEST patent flour.

The Union Thanksgiving Service will be held at the Presbyterian church of which the Rev. E. W. Graves is pastor. The service will be presided on Thursday morning by the Rev. T. W. Taylor, of Louisville, pastor of the Baptist church of his city. The musical programme hasn't been definitely announced, but it is expected that it will surpass any they have had for some time.

Call the Irvington meat market, Cum. Phone No. 5-3 for fresh cured meats, quick service and satisfaction guaranteed. M. W. Winn, Manager.

Miss Sue Bandy, who has been the guest of Miss Margaret Peyton, at Hardinsburg since Friday, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Coleman, after a visit in Louisville, has returned home.

Mrs. Hall of Webster, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Chapin, for a week.

Joe Piggett, who is attending school in Louisville, spent Saturday and Sunday here. Joe is a member of the foot ball team of the Louisville High School and plays tackle. He is considered one of the very best players--this speaks well for an Irvington boy.

The Modern Woodmen will meet at the Public Hall on Wednesday night and will initiate a class of about twelve. This camp is doing good work and they certainly know how to entertain their visiting brothers.

During the week just ended only one case of any consequence has happened.

M. B. Moremen has sold the half interest of the Irvington Pharmacy to Mr. A. O. Marshall of this city. It will still retain its same name and the obliging clerk, Mr. Poin Galloway, will be with us until the first of the year, when

Mr. Marshall will take charge of the drug store.

Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Dempster, who have been here for several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Foster Lyons, left last week for Glendean to oversee the completing of their new home there. They hope to have possession of their beautiful home by Christmas.

Mrs. F. R. Turner, after spending several weeks here the guest of Miss Mary Cornwall, left for Louisville Friday.

Masonic Banquet.

The Masons gave a most elaborate banquet last Friday night in their temple, complimentary to a number of men who came from Hawesville to take degrees in masonry.

The entire party went to Brown's where an oyster course was served to the masons and their wives.

REV. DILLON

A Worker--Cleaning up Churches Says There are Some Stumps in The Way.

Rev. Mr. Dillon, the new preacher of the Methodist church, is certainly a worker. He has been cleaning up the old stumps around the church and from all indications he is going to clean up inside, if he happens to run across any stumps therein. Rev. Dillon preached a wide awake sermon Sunday night. Those who usually take their evening nap at church opened their eyes and ears wide to what Rev. Dillon had to say. He said there was something wrong in the church, some of the members were not living right or more of the young men would be attending church. Rev. Dillon is an earnest preacher; he believes in making wrong matters right and truly has the interest of each and every person at heart. He and Mrs. Dillon are fast making true friends in Cloverport.

Mr. Brashear Ill.

J. D. Brashear has been suffering during the last week from a severe attack of indigestion. Mrs. Brashear arrived from Louisville Saturday night to be with him.

Mrs. Robards Been a Subscriber Over Thirty Years.

Please find inclosed my check for $1.00 to pay for one year subscription to your paper beginning Nov. 10th, 1909, to be sent to Mrs. L. M. Robards, Clarkdale, Miss. This is a renewal, as she has always been a subscriber to your good paper. Yours very truly, Miss Millie Robards.

Clarkdale, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. David Brainard Phelps were delightfully entertained last week by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Skillman, Mr. and Mrs. Byrne Severs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne.

LENGTHY LETTERS

FROM ROSETTA

Farmers Union Busy Initiating Members--Revival Begins First Day Of December.

MANY NEWSY PERSONALS.

Rev. B. W. Hardin filled his regular appointment Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mitcham, of Custer, spent Saturday as the guests of his sister, Mrs. Warren Alexander, and Sunday as the guests of his mother, Mrs. Mary Mitcham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Grear spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Willis.

G. C. Garner and Rufus Gregory were the guests of J. W. Mercer and family Sunday. Mr. Gregory is deputy Assessor for this dist.

Mrs. W. M. Adkisson and Mrs. W. V. Vent were in Irvington last Thursday shopping.

If you want the best flour buy the Lewisport BEST patent flour.

Mrs. J. W. Mercer and daughter, Miss Annie, spent Friday as the guests of Mrs. Rosa Adkisson.

Burl Priest and daughter, Eula, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Kasey Sunday.

June Chappell, of Caster, spent Saturday and Sunday with Cliff Slaton.

The locals of the Farmers Union of the F. E. and C. U. of A. have been very busy this last week initiating members. Several have expressed their desire to join this coming week. Records show a membership of 10,000,000. That is no little number as some have said.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Board were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Wesley Garman, Saturday and Sunday.

Conn. transferred a tract of land to W. M. Priest last Saturday. Consideration unknown.

S. P. Drury and Chas. King went to Bewleyville Saturday on business.

Herman and Lewis Lawson were administered the ordinance of baptism and received into the Methodist church here last Sunday by the pastor Rev. Hardin.

Howard Drury spent Sunday in Irvington as the guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McGlothlin.

Dave Denton, of Kingswood, was the guest of Wm. King Sunday.

Glen Board and wife spent Friday night with Marvin and May Ross.

Mrs. Darcus Ross spent Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Lem Dent, and Sunday with her son, Stannie Ross.

Mr. R. L. Adkisson, who has been in Louisville visiting friends and relatives, returned home Friday.

Rev. B. W. Hardin requested that all who wanted their children baptized to bring them next service, which will be the 2nd Sunday in December.

Roscoe Brown and sister, Etta, and Miss St. Clair, were the guests of Mrs. J. Board's family Sunday.

Rev. B. W. Hardin and father-in-law, D. Denton, spent Sunday night with Jno. Mercer and family.

S. P. Drury was taken suddenly ill Saturday night.

The pastor, Mr. Hardin, announced at the Sunday evening service that he would begin a series of meetings on the first day of December, assisted by Rev. J. Ebb Hughes. Bro. Hughes is a good revivalist and has been successful wherever he has held meetings.

The Young Man's Chance.

The betrayal of the public on the tariff question by the Republican party will mean the defeat of many congressmen and senators. Changes are likely to occur in districts strongly republican such changes occurred in 1906 and 1908.

Now is the time for the young man to enter politics. There ought to be an anti tariff reformer nominated by the Democrats in every district and aspirants for the nomination should begin NOW and earn the nomination by an active canvass. Brass bands are not necessary. Let the young man who has a taste for public life and an interest in the people go out into the country precincts, call the farmers together, read the republican platform and then the Payne-Aldrich bill! Let them read the democratic platform, pointing out the necessity for an income tax and then call attention to the income tax amendment.

The people are sound at heart and honest in purpose. Let the work of education go on and success to the congressional aspirant who wins the nomination by proving his devotion to the public welfare and his ability to deal with the questions now before this country.--The Commoner.

Big Crop of Tobacco

One of the very best tobacco crops grown in Montgomery county this year was weighed up to Mr. Robertson, Tuesday. It was grown by John Pierat, on eight acres of ground near this city and when stripped out weighed 10,110 pounds nearly 2,400 pounds to the acre, and brought 15 cents per pound, an average of $3.31 per hundred making Mr. Pierat the champion tobacco grower.--Mt. Sterling Gazette.

SAME PRICES FOR SAME QUALITY.

Agreement Is Reached By Joint Tobacco Committee--Calls For $9. $9 And $3 For 1909 Crop.

SAMPLES LIKE LAST YEAR.

The full joint committee of the Green River Tobacco Association, the A. S. E. and the home Warehouse company is now holding its most important sessions in this city. Emison Shaw presided. There were twenty-five members of the three associations present, and much interest was taken in the proceedings. It was agreed that last year's prices, $9, $9 and $3, would be acceptable for the 1909 crop for the same quality of tobacco as brought those prices last year.

The special sales committee was instructed to prepare samples as nearly duplicates of the last year's samples as possible.

On every side it is expected that there will be an offer of $9, $9 and $3 for the same sample as was sold for these prices last year, and that it will be accepted.

The Fiddlers' Contest.

There will be an entertainment given by the Home people of Cloverport, Ky., on Friday, November 23rd, under the auspices of the Breckenridge Lodge No. 61 K. of P.

This will be an Old Time Fiddlers' contest with musical comedy and songs by Clifford & Hartley. We already have several Old Time players who are promised to assist us and we want more to come in and register their names at either Hamman's or J. C. Nolte & Bros., store.

The capital prize will be ten dollars, and the merchants and business men of the city have contributed liberally, which insures prizes for all taking part. Tickets on sale at the Bank of Cloverport. Admission 35c, 25c, and 15c. Call early and have seats reserved. Breckenridge Lodge No. 61 K. of P., Clifford & Hartley, Promoters and Proprietors.

Carl Lishen Brought Home.

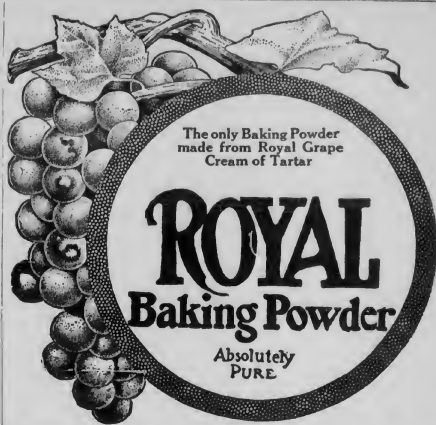

Carl Lishen, who was seriously injured in Louisville week before last, was brought home Thursday night. He was accompanied by his wife and mother. His many friends are delighted to hear of his improvement and that he will be out soon.

Guests Of The Reid's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McCracken, of Louisville, and Miss Alice McCracken, of Honolulu, were the delightful guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Reid last week.

Gregory's Celery.

Ed. Gregory raises the finest celery that has ever been on the market. It is as white as cotton. Next season he intends to raise several acres of it.

HARDINSBURG

Misses Isabelle Hendricks and Lillian Miller were in Louisville Saturday and Sunday the guests of Miss Annie Hendricks.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. McHenry and John Goolie, of Louisville, came Saturday night to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Beard for several days.

Senator and Mrs. Gus Brown were in Louisville, Frankfort and Lexington last week.

Rev. Willett will begin a series of meetings at the Baptist church on Monday night after the first Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Walls were in Louisville shopping.

Miss Emma Lou Moorman was in Louisville a few days last week.

Beard's have an unusually attractive show window, displaying a real farm scene with ideal hunting conditions. Everyone stops to admire it and to wish for real huds, squirrels and other game in such abundance. The designer, Geo. Evans, is the recipient of many congratulations upon his work.

If you want the best flour buy the Lewisport BEST patent flour.

Lloyd Cox, with this week move to Elizabethtown.

Miss Tula C. Daniel went to West Point Monday to attend a District Missionary meeting.

Dr. Mather will address the Glendean school near Friday afternoon and preach in the Glendean Baptist church at night.

Supt. Joe W. Trent was busy Thursday checking out the $4,670.20 draft he had received for the second month's payment of teachers. Many other school checks were written last week in payment for full furnishing and repairing, etc. Not until then were the chainmen paid for taking the school census last April. It is expected that the collections will permit the payment of all expenses hereafter as rapidly as incurred. The teachers, of course, will be paid as rapidly as the State furnishes the money.

Dav. Walls was here from Caster Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. D. S. Richardson, of Union Star, is the guest of Mrs. P. M. Beard.

Miss Annie DeHaven, of Cloverport, is the guest of Mrs. Will Duvall.

Mrs. C. L. Beard was the guest of Mrs. Nora Board, of Irvington, several days last week.

Herbert Beard was in Louisville Sunday.

Miss Louise Moorman, of Glendean, is spending several days with Mrs. D. R. Murray.

An enthusiastic educational rally held by the colored people here Friday night, a school league of thirty members outside the school was formed. E. W. Beard was elected president and Eva Roberts, secretary. Rev. Harris, the local colored pastor is doing a great work among his people in arousing them educationally. He, with their well-known teachers at Hardinsburg, are benefactors to their race.

Willie Green, of Falls of Roosh, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Beard Sunday.

Lucky Boy

Barney Franklin Squires was the lucky boy who found Marion Weatherholt's gate, which had been hidden since Halloween, and received a reward of one dollar. The gate was on the river bank.

GOT NEW

LETTER STYLE?

Name, Street and Number, City And State Now Run Down Envelope in Straight Line Even Business Houses Adopt It.

Do you know the proper way in which to address an envelope?

If you know, do you apply that knowledge, in the form of ink, in your personal and business correspondence?

Fashion, which dictates the placing of a napkin on a man's left knee and other weighty details of daily life, has assumed supervision of the manner in which envelopes shall be addressed. Time was when every envelope followed the custom of inscribing an envelope as if it were a "drop line" verse. This was the way:

Thomas Brown, Esq.,
1330 Soandso Street,
Chicago,
Ill.

Let us hope you no longer are addicted to that form--unless you assume to be superior to the "latest" in style, including epistolary--for the "very latest" fashion in envelope inscription is like this:

Thomas Brown, Esq.,
1330 Soandso Street,
Chicago,
Ill.

You may not like it at first glance, but then personal likes really have little or nothing to do with fashion. No one really likes those big hats with the extension feathers that literally "cut" one's friends, but the big hats are supreme. Just so the "all-in-a-line" style of envelope inscribing is rapidly gaining headway, not only for personal but for business letters.--Chicago Post.

SICK LIST.

Much Illness in Cloverport--Unusual Weather Proves Unhealthful.

Mrs. Jess Weatherholt has been sick for sometime at her home in the West End.

Miss Nannie Collins, who has been ill the last week, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Sam Conrad is quite ill at her home on the West Side.

Mr. Ed. English is no better.

Mrs. Fred Fraize has been suffering dreadfully from ear trouble.

Mrs. Wells is very low at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geer.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Again The Breckenridge News offers a nice book as a prize for the best Thanksgiving letter written by a boy or girl not over 15 years of age. The writer does not have to be a subscriber to The News, but they must get their letter to the desk by Friday, Nov. 19th. The sooner the better.

Write on one side of the paper; use not more than 100 words.

If possible, write with pen and ink.

Tell what happened during the past year that made you happiest and for which you are most thankful.

Last Thanksgiving the News was delighted to hear from the little writers and hopes to receive letters from many more next week.

The Mean Thing.

"I met her on the car today, and she said, 'Oh, let me pay your fare!' and I said, 'Oh, you mustn't,' and she didn't."

WASTEFUL ECONOMY.

Cure Member of the Family May Has
This Vice.

"The besetting sin of woman is economy," said the observing woman.
"The vice of unselfishness is but enough and almost incredible, but the habit of economy may be equally devastating, and it clings like the shirr of Nessus. Women inherit the instinct from their female forefathers, who never had a cent to call their own, and it has become part and parcel of their bones."

"I know an artist, not an unprecedented genius, but one of the kind that makes money. Well, she has a penchant for altering her own clothes.
She will lend them and put in fresh lace with infinite care and great expenditure of time and nerves. Once, after she had been altering a blouse that cost her more than a dollar in a few dollars in the first place and had seen one season's wear, I reckoned up the time it had taken her and showed her in cold figures that she might have earned $50 in the time wasted in fixing that blouse. And I suggested mildly that sleeves at $25 apiece were rather more expensive than she ought to wear. But she protested that the garment was too good to throw away and no seamstress would bother with it, and I dare say she is still fixing up her old clothes."

"Then there are the women who have a passion for utilizing left over food. They will take themselves to pieces to save a few slices of stale bread or a cupful of soup, but can't find time to win the confidence of their children. And the remains of their economy are none too appetizing either. There are women, too, who will economize in their food or walk when their health and strength are all the capital they have, and I know some women who won't even wear their clothes until they are old fashioned. It seems so extravagant to take the 'new off.'"

"If you have a person like this in your family try to cure her now. It may be hard, but it is not impossible, and there are so many beautiful things waiting to be enjoyed, so many important things waiting to be done, that it is heart-breaking to think of the time that is wasted in alleged economy, which is not economy at all, but horrible wastefulness. Real economy lies in using all one's time and strength to the best advantage, not in sacrificing the most precious things in life for the sake of saving material things."

Women Soiled Jewelry.
Jewelry is supposed to wear for ornate ment, but much of it is kept in such a condition that it is anything but ornate.
The cause of this is the neglect of the carelessness, than to wear pins, rings and chains so black and greasy that clockmakers may be pardoned for questioning the personal cleanliness of the wearer.

There is no excuse for this dirtiness when soap and water are to be had. It is well to purchase a small box of jeweler's sawdust to expedite drying and polishing. A roused chemist is also helpful.

It is particularly ill advised for the girl who works to wear dirty jewelry.
Indeed, she should wear as little as possible. A watch, cuff buttons and a simple brooch or pin at the neck are all that is permissible for good taste.
These should be kept shining.

Remember that dirty jewelry is an offense against good taste that no well bred girl will commit.

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Don's Regulators. They operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

Children's Shoes.
Mothers often hesitate to put their small children into dainty white shoes.
Light colored shoes because of the problem of keeping these shoes clean.
Soft white shoes, if not too badly soiled, may be cleaned nicely with almost any white powder.
If they are very dirty they may be cleaned in gasoline.
The regular white shoe polish is made with whiting and powder, made medium thick and applied with a cloth.
This may be used on white canvas
and white and colored buckskin shoes.
Rub the shoes free from dry powder
after they have dried.
"Boots" made of chamols may be washed in ammonia water.
Wash them in ammonia water.
In case, in some ammonia and wipe them dry with a towel or cloth. Do not dry near artificial heat.

For Halloween Feast.

Place cards for Halloween feasts show all manner of decorations, though the pumpkin is likely to be first choice.
A miniature pumpkin at one end of the card comes at the rate of 75 cents a dozen. A whole pumpkin may hold fort at the rate of $1 a dozen.
Other vegetables are by no means neglected. Flowers are preferred by many. A rose card is shown next the pumpkin card. Cards for the Halloween supper table are not difficult to make in the following fashion: Select a large white card and decorate one end with a large, cheery champaign having broad petals which can be cut out at one side, making an even petal to the card. The flowers are easily painted with water colors. Another neat design is to draw the picture of a gift fairy close to the card.

PUMPKIN PLACE CARDS.

edge and attach white gauze wings, making the wings so they will extend beyond the end of the card. The fairy can be made to stand on the back of the card, with a silver reel to direct it.
The black cat or witch and bolting pot can be made with India ink in shadow graphs, all designs in black. Thread three chestnuts with red ribbon and attach the card to the bow end. This makes a pretty card.

The Food of Vim and Energy

One plateful of MOTHER'S

OATS will produce more vim and vigor and energy and action—more vitality, more enthusiasm and more endurance, than many times the same bulk of meat, fish, fowl, or cereals of lower food value.

MOTHER'S OATS are different from other's oats and different from ordinary oatmeal. They are put up in sanitary sealed packages. But there's more to MOTHER'S OATS than the packages; they are the best oats in the world, the best selection of the best crops. Every batch that comes to our mills is screened and only the ripe, big grains are marketed. They are not only sterilized, but steamed (to burst the protein cells); then rolled (to render the cooking easy), and after that,

MOTHER'S OATS are crushed (to hasten their digestion)—easy work for the stove, easy work for the stomach and more work for the man.

There's a coupon in every package of Mother's Cereals. You can collect enough of them in a little while to own a Fireless Cooker for nothing. Your grocer will tell you how to get it free. There are a number of ways and all of them make it worth while to buy Mother's Cereals. Mother's Oats, Mother's Corn Meal (white or yellow), Mother's Wheat Flakes (the cream of the wheat), Mother's

Hominy Grits, Mother's Corn Flakes (oasted), Mother's Course Pearl Hominy, Mother's Old Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal, Mother's Old Fashioned Graham Flour.

THE ELECTION CONTEST.

The Democratic candidates met at Hardinsburg last Saturday and by unanimous consent agreed to file contests in the late election in which each of them were defeated by a small majority. The filing of the contest created quite a stir among the Republicans, yet they had anticipated such a move on the part of the Democrats, yet they were not quite certain that the contest would be made. Ever since the canvassing board announced the result of the final count the Democrats have talked of contesting. Not until last Saturday however, was a final decision reached. The services of Messrs. Murray & Murray were secured the day after the election, and ever since that time reports of irregularities in the election have come to light and the Democrats basing their faith on these things, feel that they will win in the final outcome. Nine separate petitions were filed, each of which set out clearly the grounds on which the contest is based. The Republican candidates were made defendants and they are required to file their answer in twenty days. The use of money, whiskey and other unlawful methods are charged against the Republicans. While this is a serious charge, and one upon which the law fixes a heavy penalty, it is not the main one on which the Democrats will rely to gain the contest. The counting of two or three hundred illegal and mutilated ballots for the Republican ticket is the most important charge alleged against them. The people will remember that the name of J. C. Brodie, the Republican candidate for circuit clerk, was left off the ballot, and the courts decided that it could not be put on, not having been certified to the clerk in time. This blunder was made by the Republicans, as they freely admitted before the election. But in order to reinstate their fallen brother, and some how fix him up for the Republican vote on election day they gave out instructions that his name should be written on the ballot. This was done with pen and ink in many of the precincts, and thus many hundreds of Republican ballots were thereby mutilated and defaced. Notwithstanding this, they were counted for the Republican ticket and over the protest of Democratic officers of the election. Upon an investigation by the courts, these ballots will be thrown out and that will leave a clear majority of the legal ballots cast to be counted for the Democrats. There is no other key to the situation. It will score a big victory for the Democrats on a final showing case. The Republicans are restless and uneasy over the outcome because it is evident that on a fair count of the ballots, that should be counted legally, the Democrats have won. Besides Messrs. Murray & Murray, the Democrats have secured other legal counsel that will assist in the investigation and the interest in the proceedings is growing throughout the county. Not alone here, but politicians in other parts of the state are anxious to see the final outcome.

How will Jesse Eskridge be able to explain that he is eligible for the office of County Attorney of this county when he has resided in Owensboro, Ky., for the past nine years. The constitution of the State says on the subject: "No one shall be eligible to the office of County Attorney who has not resided in the State two years, and one year next preceding his election in the county and district in which he is a candidate." His explanation will be something like the answer Mike Donohue made to the fellow who asked him to describe a steer he had lost. Well, says Mike, he was a very fine beast with a white spot on his side next to the fence.

It is said that mayor-elect Gaynor, of New York, won his election in that great city without the use of money. Well, George Harris, the Magistrate-elect of the Balltown precinct won his election without money too - and he had to overcome a hundred Republican majority. We call that running sober.

It would be quite a coincidence if the candidacy of J. C. Brodie should result finally in defeating the whole Republican ticket. That's just what will happen when the illegal ballots are thrown out.

About all of the farmers in the Custer section of this county have pledged their tobacco. They raise a good quality of Burley and expect to get $14 for the best.

It is an important fact, to note in passing, that the Republicans in this county have been unusually quiet over their so-called victory in the late election.

The Republicans of Grayson county have filed papers at Leitch Field contesting the election of the Democrats in that county.

When the election contest is sifted down, the whole thing will depend upon the mutilated ballots.

In Memory.

Resolutions in memory of our deceased Y. W. A. Missionary, Miss Eula Hensley, Chefoo, China.

Whereas, God in his boundless mercy and wisdom has seen fit to remove by spiritual transition our friend, our neighbor, our missionary, into his celestial kingdom; and:

Whereas, this transaction is but a putting away of the things of carnality and a robbing with the complete sunlight of God; therefore be it

Resolved 1.—That we in Christ like submission, accept this sorrow as a fulfillment of His promise, and we know that all things work together for good

When the back begins to ache, Don't wait until backache becomes chronic; Till serious kidney troubles develop; Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Cloverport citizen's experience.

A. Fallon, living on Railroad St., Cloverport, Ky., says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills live up to the claims made for them. My kidney and bladder were disordered for twelve years. My back ached severely and when I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges darted through my loins, causing me to suffer intensely. When I first arose in the morning I was lame and sore and the slightest work exhausted me. I was also languid and at times felt very nervous. Headaches and dizzy spells were added to my affliction and too frequent passages of the kidney secretions caused me great annoyance, particularly at night when I was forced to rise from three to six times. I used but one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Fisher's drug store and received almost entire relief. I intend to continue with them and have no doubt but what I will soon be entirely cured. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CURED IN ONE MONTH BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am seventy-seven years old and one day, some years ago, I fell from a step-ladder, bruising my head. In a few days I could not walk. I called in a doctor and inside of a week my scalp was set in. The doctor had cured me of that when I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered tongue could not tell. I could not sleep day or night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make no more and I was almost out of my mind. I read of Cuticura and sent my wife to the druggist, who was a member of my lodge of Odd Fellows, for a set of the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first night I slept I had had for six months. I was not afraid to use plenty of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap with hot water and in a week's time I was able to put on my clothes again. In a month I was cured. From that day to this I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too highly. I may add that I have a very heavy head of hair which I owe to Cuticura. W. Harrison Smith, R.F.D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, '08."

A single set of the Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient for the treatment of the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humors, eczema, rashes and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail. Guaranteed absolutely pure and may be used from the hour of birth.

CHAPTER XIV.

WHEN Mrs. Brooks found herself alone in the street she walked along mechanically. Her heart seemed to be pressed down by a weight, and her breath came painfully through her contracted throat. She could not believe that what she had gone through was real, the thing was so monstrous, so utterly inconceivable. Her husband, Joe, for a few days had given up a life of ease, for whom she had borne cheerfully the trials of poverty, in whom she had placed her entire faith, this man, to whom she had yielded herself trustfully, in whom, up to that hour, she had believed as the son of honor, had stood exposed as a thief and a liar.

To save himself from the impending punishment of his dishonesty he was willing to trade the honor of his wife! To maintain himself in the material ease that his thriving had brought them for a few brief weeks he undertook to prostitute himself for money—and endured and threatened in his efforts to force her to do this thing! And she, driven to desperation, had let him arrange a rendezvous for with Captain Williams in the latter's room! She stopped and looked around a wall for support. A violent tremor had seized her, and the street lights were whirling about her.

"My God," she groaned. "What shall I do? What shall I do?"

The fit of faintness passed off, and she was able to collect her thoughts and consider the best course of action. When she had undertaken to call on Captain Williams at that hour it was with no thought of leading herself to her husband's hideous plan. In a vague, hopeless way she had resolved to beg money for him, to see if there was not some manner, which honor and reputation could be made. Now she was afraid. If she went to him, how could she approach him—what could she say? What could she think of her coming to his rooms, at night too? He would think, and under the circumstances naturally think, only one thing. And she would completely lose in the power of this colossal, this enormous vision she secretly feared and detested, who so often had feared his own enormous vision of her when she was powerless to resist it.

Her one hope was to turn from the awful idea and from her husband, leaving him to his fate. But she could go to her mother's home and await for money from the theater. She would at least find a refuge there. But in the morning world what the middle expense and disgrace. No, she must make up her mind whatever the cost, whatever the result.

Ten minutes later she was knocking at Captain Williams' door.

The door swung open, and the captain smiled before her.

"Come in, Mrs. Brooks," he invited. "I've been waiting for you."

"I was delayed a little," she said humbly.

"Your husband happened that you were coming?"

"Yes, I know."

"He was coming late, and he was tired, knowing no what to say or what to do."

"Did you meet Smith?" he inquired.

"Smith?"

"Your friend Jimmy. He just left."

"No, I know."

"Did you pass you in the elevator. It does not matter. Won't you sit down?"

She took the chair he advanced for her close to the table.

"You must excuse the looks of these quarters," he went on. "I am an old bachelor, you know, and my Jap valet ain't allowed to dust up or clean much. Knocks out all my kind of arrangement."

Agonies Of Pain

Never give up, and think that all women, yourself included, have to suffer pain.

Thousands of women have written to tell how they have cured their womanly life, and relieved their misery and over a million have been benefited, in various other forms of female disease, during the past 80 years, by that popular and successful female remedy

WINE OF CARDUI WOMAN'S RELIEF

I believe I would now have been dead, if Mrs. Maria Lamb, of Lebanon Junction, Ky., had not been for Cardui. I had suffered for years with cramping, pains in my back, sides and arms, and awful heart-down-pain. Now these pains have all gone, as a result of using Cardui.

boy. Perhaps I should have asked of the office," she said.

"Not at all," he answered, in a manly and intended to be reassuring. "I have my own way in this place. I got the money to pay for what I want, and there ain't no one in this hotel asking me any 'ifs' and 'buts'."

"No one knows me. I didn't care that they should hear my name."

"It's nobody's business. What I'm telling you, I'm telling to you, and so long as I pay the money to one else, I'm interfering with the way I run my place."

"Still, a woman at this hour?"

"Makes no difference, although you are the first lady to call on me, night or day."

"You mean that no woman has ever been in here before?"

"I said the first lady."

Mrs. Brooks shuddered, and instinctively she flinched toward the door.

"You have a telephone here, haven't you, captain?" she asked.

"Right over there by the door," he said, pointing to it. "Want to use it?"

She cleared her choking throat, and started right in to the business that had brought her.

"Captain Williams, since you left us tonight Joe—Mr. Brooks—has told me about his difficulty."

"So Smith said."

"What's the matter to come to talk about?"

"Well, that little matter can rest," he told affably. "You've called, and it's the first chance I've had to speak to you alone."

"I want to know if there is any way—some arrangement?"

"No use in looking so plain over a little stolen money. I want to show you my quarters."

"I didn't come to see your quarters, captain. I came to see you."

model of the ship on the mantle, "in a model of the Sally Moran, my first command out of France. That's her wheel up there over the door. She had the cornerstone of my fortune, but she taught me how to fight and have nerve. Took her up into the north Pacific sealing and then down on the Japanese coast. Had a crew who wouldn't adorn any high level rover. Captain Kidd ever could wish for. If there was any good in this schooner God must 'a' save it first and last."

To humor him she had advanced to the mantle.

"And is that where you got your awful reputation?" she inquired.

The bushy eyebrows came down until the lids were hidden, and his eyes, shining like live coals, were alone visible as he directed his gaze upon her.

"Just how bad is that awful reputation, Mrs. Brooks?"

"They say," she returned, meeting his gaze steadily, "that you have no heart, no pity, in you; that you'd kill a man in those days with no little feeling as I would kill a mosquito."

"Well, I guess the reason you'd kill a mosquito but because it's just a mosquito and that you'd like to kill it, but because you're afraid it will bite you. Ain't it?"

"Yes."

"I had men, Mrs. Brooks, who, if you let 'em go too far, they'd bite, and if you let 'em live too deep they'd kill. That was the early days of seafaring. It was a hard life, and it made hard men. I ain't any better, but I guess I ain't no worse, than lots of others would be fixed just as I was at that time."

"I'm glad to hear you say that, captain," she declared, seizing the opportunity. "It opens the way for the business I came on."

"Business?"

"Yes, business."

"That's after business hours, Mrs. Brooks, and I ain't half spun my yarn. Now, over here I want to show you a couple of spears I got from a lot of Indians down in the Malay archipelago. You may not know where that is, but I've always had an idea it's where God laid down the devil and the first man they had you read about in the Bible. I was going ashore, seeing what was doing, when this crew of niggers come down on us like a squall. We had an awful time getting back to the boats, I tell you. We were some out, and all I got out of the expedition was one of the big chief's wives."

He looked into Mrs. Brooks' eyes. "Took her back to France with me," he added. "Women were scarce in them times—good looking ones."

"You took her away from where she belonged?" questioned Emma slowly and incredulously.

"She was willing to go. No one ever beat her about the ship, and she lived pretty much as she wanted—three meals a day and no hard work."

"What became of her?"

"Died—I guess from overeating. You see them two little anchors that chair's made off?"

But she had recoiled from him, shuddering with horror and aversion.

"She died from overeating?" she interrogated. "Have there been many of those?"

"No; I learned a lesson. I put the rest on a diet."

He seemed to think that this was particularly clever and humorous, for he burst into a loud guffaw.

Emma did not laugh. She was more disgusted and apprehensive than ever. The clock ticked.

"Did you hear that?" she said. "I must bust that you let me talk over what I came here for."

CHAPTER XV.

CAPTAIN WILLIAMS' lower lip trembled, and his eyes contracted. He threw off his too amiable demeanor. His voice became harsh and cruel as his natural brutality asserted itself.

"A man like me, eh?" he rasped. "That's pretty hard language, Mrs. Brooks."

"Please forgive me and let me talk."

"If you didn't come here to see me sort of socially, what did you come for?"

"About Joe—my husband."

"What about him?"

"I asked you the amount of the defalcation."

"You said it was your business. Well, it's more than $10,000."

Emma was astounded, and her heart sank. She had imagined that it could be no larger a sum.

"Is that the truth?" she asked.

"I ain't never been used to lying."

"Captain Williams, I've come here to plead with you to save Joe and me and my family from disgrace—to keep him out of jail. You know my father. You know how he loved me. He always loved him and knew he was an honest man."

"He was so sure of his honest dealings with me, Mrs. Brooks, that I must have seen every cent he gave to be who dealt with me."

"I know that," she said, her hands becoming supplicating. "I know that but you must have some respect for my money, you must have had some affection for him at the time every body had and some pity for me in this trouble. I thought all these things might soften you, might open a way to some arrangement that would save me from the exposure that seems to be bound to come tomorrow morning. But there was some way out of it?"

"But he was all business now. He had outbid himself that he had wanted to do his little with her."

"Have you got the money?" he snapped.

"Then what's your proposition?"

"I have none," she confessed hopelessly, hanging her head.

"Temple!" he grunted, settling himself in his chair.

"I thought—I thought you might be a little more charitable and suggest some way," she murmured.

"Your husband sent you here, didn't he?"

"Yes."

"Was he did say to you?"

"Told me I might have some influence with you."

"Put the blame on you for stealing the money from him?"

"How did you know that?"

She raised her head and looked at him in surprise.

"I know the man. Didn't he?"

"Yes."

"Told you, didn't he, that you could fix it up with me to call everything off?"

"Yes, that's what he said," she admitted wretchedly.

"And I suppose he said that if you didn't see your way out of it, take the blame for him going to the penitentiary?"

"It was something like that."

"That he happen to mention, did he, that he thought I liked you pretty well?"

"Yes," she stammered, now utterly bewildered.

"I—I think that was part of what he said."

"Didn't forget that, eh? Well, he continued, looking once more straight into her eyes and putting the best square to her. "I'm here and you're here. That part seems all right. What have you got to say?"

She remained his gaze bravely and answered, though with no hope in her heart:

Stops Neuralgia Pains

The shooting, tearing pains of neuralgia are caused by excitement of the nerves. Sciatica is also a nerve pain.

Sloan's Liniment, a soothing external application, stops neuralgia pains at once, quiets the nerves, relieves that feeling of numbness which is often a warning of paralysis, and by its tonic effect on the nervous and muscular tissues, gives permanent as well as immediate relief.

One Application Relieved the Pain.

Mr. J. C. Lee, of 1100 Ninth St., S. E., Washington, D. C., writes:—
"I advised a lady who was a great sufferer from neuralgia to try Sloan's Liniment. After one application the pain left her and she has not been troubled with it since."

JOHN D. BABBAGE

If You are wise YOU'LL ADVERTISE

In here. Maybe I made a mistake, but if I did I'll find it out before you leave this room, nor understand I've called, now you talk."

Her reply came with withering scorn:

"Now I know that you're everything you'd say you are."

PAID IN FULL.

"Ad rich!" he said, making a step toward her. "If I am what you say, I am a man. I know what to expect, and I don't need to talk."

The poet of her situation seemed to be desperate, and with it came the courage to persist. "You are a man, Paris, the courage that causes a defenseless and hurtled into a corner from which there is no escape to turn and fight for the life."

"You think I'm afraid of you?" she cried, throwing up her head and clenching the hands at her sides. "I tell you I'm not. We've been too long at cross purposes. What you want me to do I know; what my husband sent me for I know. You can be the best of the friends that you are; he can be the contemptible man that he is. He can offer me for sale, and you can stand ready to buy me. But I've got something to say about it, and I desire you to know that if I would place myself on the market, as you say, I couldn't! You disgust me, but I shan't shrink, and I am not afraid of you or of him or of any one. Hark!"

She turned quickly, looked the door, threw the key at his feet and confronted him authoritatively again. "There's the key to your room. The door is locked, and I am alone with you. You kill men? You bring their necks? Well, Captain Williams, here's your first chance to kill a woman, for that's just exactly what you'll have to do."

She saw the glare in the little savage optics under the leathery brows face out, to be replaced by a gleam of admiration, not the covetous admiration of her shapely, passing form, of her handsome, resolute face, but honest admiration of the pure soul that shone in her eyes.

"I knew you were that kind of a woman," she said, thankfulness and real tenderness in his voice. "If you hadn't done just what you did I'd been the most disappointed man in the world."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean," he continued, almost reverently, "that I banked on you being good, and you are good. I know women. I've bought mine all over the world, from Honduras to Nigeria. But I paid for 'em, and they were always willing to sell. There ain't but two kinds, the good and the bad, and there's no halfway. When they're bad they're bad through and through and can't be good, and when they're good they can't be bad, and they're next to heaven. I figured you good, and if you hadn't been it would have hit me, and hit me hard. You're enter here, young woman, then with your mother, because I'd fight for you, and I don't forget I can win men's necks like chickens."

Emma could not comprehend it. "I don't understand you," she faltered. "Maybe you mean you don't believe me," he said, going to the table and taking the paper he had written upon

"You came here for a purpose. You ain't no child."

And then slipped between the pages of one of the magazines. "Here, I've had this waiting for you. Read it."

She made no motion to take it from his hand.

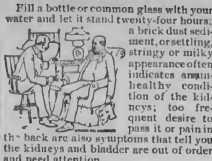

"Well, I'll read it for you," he said. "It's addressed to that husband of yours."

"Your resignation is accepted. I wish to thank you for your services and to assure you that your accounts with the Latin-American Steamship company have been audited and found to be correct."

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment settling at the bottom. If the water is clear, healthy condition of the kidneys; the frequent desire to urinate, the pain in the back, the head, the eyes and the bladder are out of order and need attention.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of their urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and swelling pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because it restores perfect health restoring perfect health. If you need a kidney medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, or by mail, for $1.00 a bottle, and one-dollar size, $2.00.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

"You wait for me a moment, Jimmy. I want to speak to the captain," she said.

"All right," he responded, going outside to ring up the elevator.

"Captain, this paper—shall I give it to him?" she inquired.

"Who, Brooks?"

"Yes."

"I would. It clears you."

"And you? How can I thank you?"

"Don't mind me. Only some time when you get settled down and are living happy again invite me up to town. Let me put on my slippers and smoke my pipe in the parlor."

"Thank I will. Good night."

"And, Emma," he added as she had reached the door, "I suppose I can call you Emma now, can't I?"

"Say a lot of attention to that fellow Smith. He's an awful good friend of yours."

"I've found that out tonight," she answered. "Good night."

"Good night, Emma."

When she had done the old man sat for some time smoking his pipe meditatively. Finally he kicked off his slippers, rose, stretched himself, sat down again, smiled and uttered his thoughts aloud.

"Well, Captain Bill," he told himself, "I guess you've paid up a part of that deficit you've owed decency for such a long time."

RIBBON FILLETS.

In All Grades to Suit Time, Place and the Girl.

With the classic culture so much in vogue any number of modifications of the fillet idea have appeared to tempt mildly to adorn her tresses. Where the young girl of a season or so ago coyly bound her locks of an evening with a simple band of ribbon or velvet, tied in place every time it was put on by her own more or less skilled fingers, now the girl and the woman of every age slip into place in days as well as by night some fetching little contrivance of any degree of elaborateness to suit the occasion with no more trouble than the adjusting of a belt or the tying of the article worn.

In the accompanying cut are shown a few of the most attractive of the new hair ornaments. Most of them as may be seen are fillets of ribbon twisted around a wire foundation curved to fit the head and held in at the ends just enough to insure the ornament's staying in place without an uncomfortable pinning. The rose is a perennial favorite for hair decoration, whether natural or artificial, and it is

NEW METHOD OF ROAD MAINTENANCE.

The road commissioners of a county in Georgia are considering a new plan for maintaining the highways. The idea is to organize a gang of road workers, to be composed of free labor, that can be sent anywhere in the county on short notice and without the expense of carts, as in the case of convicts. Superintendent Winslow says he is supplied with an outfit so that he can traverse the 555 miles of roads in the county and plan out the work in advance.

Experiment in Des Moines, Ia.

Des Moines, Ia., is to build a mile of experimental roadway to determine the best method of construction. One section will be of concrete, another of flag covered with broken stone, etc.

Can't look well, eat well or feel well with impure blood feeding your body. Keep the blood pure with Burdock Blood Bitters. Eat simply, take exercise, keep clean and you will have long life.

Cumulative Value of Good Highways.

Improved roads are breeders of traffic. Commerce invariably follows the line of the least resistance, and surely is a good road constructed that much travel is not diverted to it from other courses. In addition to this, it may almost invariably be found that new industries, new and greater productions, spring up along the well built roads. With the added commerce comes added enlightenment, added stability, enlarged business and more and more developed and perfected citizenship.

Young Girls Are Victims of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c. at Severs drug store.

PRIZES FOR GOOD ROADS.

New Scheme in Maryland, Mo., to Encourage Building Five Mile Sections.

Maryville, Mo., will attempt to solve the good road proposition in a new way. At a recent meeting of the Maryville Commercial club it was decided to formulate a plan to give four prizes aggregating $750 for the four best five mile stretches of road leading into Maryville.

No matter how far out the five mile section may be, just so it is connected to a complete five mile section which touches the city limits or to a section which touches such contiguous section it will be eligible for prizes. The sections thus competing must be kept in order for one year.
